Leading the Way with the All New OS 385 from Pursuit

February 16, 2012, Miami, Florida – The 385 Offshore is the flagship model in the leading line of outboard powered express boats known as Pursuit's Offshore series. In fact, the latest independent retail research numbers published by Statistical Surveys has Pursuit in the number one market position among its' direct competitors.

According to Pursuit President, Tom Slikkers, "Our goal is to consistently deliver products to the market with uncompromising style, quality and performance. Our engineering and manufacturing processes along with a dedicated team of employees produce a premium product unmatched in the market today."

The OS 385 is packed full of yacht caliber feature and benefit. The factory installed fiberglass hardtop is fully integrated with storage, convenience rails and overhead ventilation. The top is supported forward by Pursuit's proprietary vacuum infused windshield frames and aft by powder coated heavy duty aluminum pipe work that doubles as a ladder to the optional second station platform. The windshield is tempered safety glass with wide open panes port, starboard and forward allowing great visibility for Captain and crew. A graceful shear line compliments the windshield/hardtop detail and matched to a sharp entry, strakes and chines gives the hull the type of performance you expect from Pursuit.

The interior has an island berth forward of a full galley with a full size head to starboard. The head features a separate shower with comfort seating and smoked acrylic stall. Galley features include a microwave, two burner cook top, stainless drawer style fridge/freezer, wood cabinetry and fiberglass sink with stainless faucet.

Solid wood veneers, wood flooring and matching fabrics give the interior a spacious feel you'd find on a much larger yacht. The mid-cabin berth offers sleeping arrangements for two adults and a privacy settee for relaxing while at anchor. An optional arrangement with galley starboard and seating to port may suit your tastes as well, speak with your factory authorized Pursuit salesperson to spec the boat best for you.

George Hetzel, Vice President Sales & Marketing, "Our goal is to build on the tradition of excellence in product design within the offshore series established by our team over the past few years. The OS 385 has set the standard even higher and provides the market another compelling reason to purchase a new Pursuit."
